

~ Urworte: A Conference in Honour of Professor Nicholas Boyle ~

Monday 29 August

2 pm onwards Arrival and Registration

6.30-7.30 pm Welcome (John Walker and Nicholas Saul)

8 pm Dinner

Tuesday 30 August: Literature

8-9 am Breakfast

9.30 am • Stephen Heath (Jesus College, Cambridge): Unsere Eruptionen

10.30-11 am Coffee break

11am-12.30 pm • Ritchie Robertson (St John's College, Oxford): Goethe and Machiavelli
• Roger Paulin (Trinity College, Cambridge): A Poem by A.W. Schlegel

12.30-1.30 pm Lunch

1.30-3 pm • Hans-Jürgen Schings (Freie Universität Berlin): Faust und der dritte Schöpfungstag
• Martin Swales (UCL): *The Human Epiphany: Reflections on Goethe's Iphigenie auf Tauris and Shakespeare's *A Winter's Tale

3-4.30 pm • John McCarthy (Vanderbilt): The Missing Tree Trunk: Sleeping Venus and Faust's Salvation
• Jim Reed (The Queen's College, Oxford): Goethe as Secular Icon

4.30-5 pm Tea break

5-7.15 pm • Charlotte Lee (Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge): Mignon as the Embodiment of the Secret
• Regina Sachers (Exeter College, Oxford): Goethe and Mörke
• Ian Cooper (Göttingen): 'Short of History': Les Murray and the Communion of Saints

8 pm Dinner

~ Magdalene College, Cambridge, 30-31 August 2011 ~

Wednesday 31 August: Philosophy and Theology

8-9 am Breakfast

9-10.30 am • Karl Ameriks (Notre Dame): Kant, Imagination, and the Tragic Turn
• Barry Nisbet (Sidney Sussex, Cambridge): On Causation in History

10.30-11am Coffee break

11-12.30 am • Christoph Jamme (Lüneburg): Aufgeklärte Mythologie: Thomas Mann und der Mythos
• Paul Connerton (Cambridge): Silences

12.30-1.30 pm Lunch

1.30-4 pm • Mark Ogden (Durham): Christian Humanism and Higher Education
• Eamon Duffy (Magdalene College, Cambridge): Seamus Heaney and Catholicism
• Nicholas Lash (Clare Hall, Cambridge): Benedict, Boyle and Global Interdependence

4-4.30 pm Tea break

4.30-6 pm • Father Charles Gordon (Portland, Oregon): Nicholas Boyle and Seyyed Hossein Nasr on Textual Reading
• John Walker (Birkbeck College, London): *Goethe's Faust, Mann's Dr Faustus and the Site of Literature*

6-7.30 pm Nicholas Boyle: Plenary and Concluding Discussion

8 pm Dinner